

WOMAN IS RESCUED BY NEGRO LABORER

He Jumps Into Water to Save
Stranger Who Attempts to End Life.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Norfolk, Va., March 14.—Despondent because of domestic troubles, Mrs. Mary Keating, of Boston, jumped overboard from the Old Dominion Steamship Company wharves at the foot of Church Street this morning. She was rescued, however, by Sam Thomas, a negro employee, and was sent to St. Vincent's Hospital, where it is said she will recover.

The nature of her domestic unhappiness or when or why she came to Norfolk to attempt to take her own life has not been learned. She is said to have told the physician she has a husband and five children.

The woman walked directly to the end of the wharf without stopping to speak to any one, and put down her umbrella and handbag and jumped overboard in plain view of a dozen or more persons. While several of those who saw her take the plunge were looking for a rope and ladder to throw to her, the negro jumped after her and swam to the piling with the woman. The two came ashore on a ladder that was lowered for them.

Its Work in Tennessee.

Memphis, Tenn., March 14.—Twenty-seven persons were killed in the storm which swept through five counties in Western Tennessee and part of Middle Tennessee yesterday, and thirteen fatalities are reported from seven counties in Northern Mississippi. Estimates as to the number injured cannot be made with an degree of accuracy. The property damage is roughly estimated at approximately half a million dollars. Wire communication to a number of points in the path of the storm is still interrupted.

The principal towns damaged are Guntown, Baldwin and Beldon, Miss., and Lexington, Camden and Hinson Springs, Tenn. The storm played great havoc, however, on the plantations and small farming settlements.

Of the larger towns, Lexington was probably the most severely damaged. Fifty-seven buildings, including the Cumberland and Christian churches, were wrecked. The property damage is estimated at $150,000. Twelve residences were demolished at Camden and at Hinson Springs, the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railroad station and several other buildings were wrecked.

On the plantations hundreds of farm houses were torn to pieces, barns demolished and the wreckage of innumerable negro cabins is strewn over corn and cotton fields.

CAVALIERI, CHANLER'S EX-WIFE
WILL WED MURATORE, TENOR

LINA CAVALIERI.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Detroit, Mich., March 14.—Lina Cavallieri, the world-famous diva, is to be married in Detroit on March 25 to Lucien Muratore, leading tenor of the Paris Grand Opera, with whom she is now touring the United States.

Notice to make suitable arrangements for the ceremony was received to-day by her advance manager in Detroit.

Since the divorce of Lina Cavallieri from ex-Sheriff Bob Chanler numerous rumors of new matrimonial alliances have been current. The last one with whom she was linked was with that of William K. Vanderbilt, and the last one with Muratore, with whom she sailed for this country in February. Within a week after they landed they were reported married, but at that time they denied even an engagement. The telegram to her manager, however, makes it look like a sure thing this time.

Taken Suddenly Ill.
Boston, March 14.—Lina Cavallieri, who was to have sung in "Carmen" to-morrow at the Boston Opera House, was taken suddenly ill to-day, and her physician, Dr. R. R. Emerson, has forbidden her appearance.

Dr. Emerson to-night issued a statement that the diva is so ill that the use of an opiate is necessary. The nature of the illness is not disclosed.

KING MAY OPPOSE JUDGE WILLIAMS

Clifton Forge Lawyer Likely to Enter the Race for Attorney-General.

So much encouragement has been given Floyd W. King, of Clifton Forge, who is considering the matter of entering the race for the Democratic nomination for Attorney-General in the August primary, that it is quite probable his announcement of candidacy will be made within a short time. Mr. King is now in Richmond and will talk with citizens here to-day. He has been in many parts of the State and feels much encouraged over the outlook.

His service of one term in the State Senate put him in touch with public affairs. He was the author of the law creating teachers' pension, which is now the unanimous policy of the Virginia State Teachers' Association.

While in the Senate he addressed himself especially to educational matters. Mr. King is an attorney of Clifton Forge and is well known to lawyers.

So far Attorney-General Samuel W. Williams has no avowed opposition, but it appears that he will have it.

DANIELS SPEAKS FOR PRESIDENT

Represents Him at Benefit Performance for Alum Chine Survivors.

Baltimore, March 14.—Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels this afternoon made his first public address since becoming a member of President Wilson's Cabinet. He represented the President at a theatrical performance in the Academy of Music here for the benefit of the sufferers from the Alum Chine dynamite explosion last Friday. Actors from all the companies playing here gave their services, and the entire receipts from the sale of the tickets will be to the families of those who were killed or injured in the disaster. The theatre was crowded.

Mr. Daniels was the guest of Mayor Preston at a luncheon preceding the performance, and the Mayor introduced him at the theatre.

"The President requests me to say," said the secretary, "that he is very sensible of the spirit of human sympathy prompting this generous movement for the alleviation of the suffering caused by the terrible catastrophe last week—a catastrophe which saddened the whole country, in behalf of the government at Washington and especially in behalf of the Department of the Navy I have come here to-day to express the President's appreciation of this laudable manifestation of brotherly love and charity."

"And I would add this message from the President my own grateful acknowledgment of the quick response to the cry of suffering by the generous-hearted citizens of this city. I spirit which prompts the members of that profession, always responsive to the cry of humanity, in giving this entertainment to help those who were suddenly brought face to face with want."

VAN VOLKENBURGH SUES FOR DIVORCE

This Is Latest Development in Tangled Affairs of "Ten-Million-Dollar Widow."

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
New York, March 14.—Philip Van Volkenburgh to-day filed in the Supreme Court a summons in an action for absolute divorce that he has started against Mrs. Nevada Van Volkenburgh. The summons was served on her at the Hotel Vanderbilt last Thursday.

Little could be learned to-day about the latest development in the matrimonial affairs of the $10,000,000 widow because the complaint in the action has not been filed, and Samuel Waldell, attorney for Van Volkenburgh, declined to discuss the case.

Mrs. Van Volkenburgh, since a short time after her marriage to Philip Van Volkenburgh, has been seeking relief from the courts. She first brought a separation action, charging her husband with abandonment and inadequate support. He replied with a counter suit, in which the name of a prominent lawyer was said to have been mentioned. The original answer in this suit was later amended and finally the separation action was quashed.

Then Mrs. Van Volkenburgh started an action to recover $100,000 from her husband, alleging that this sum was due her as recompense for her living expenses during the past two years. The trial of this action has been set down for next Monday in the Supreme Court.

Mrs. Van Volkenburgh was the widow of William Hays Chapman, when she met Van Volkenburgh. It was reported that she inherited $10,000,000 from Chapman, but she declared this was an exaggerated estimate of her fortune. Soon after Mr. Chapman's death she went to Europe and was courted by noblemen. Many reports of her engagement to titled suitors were cabled from foreign correspondents.

Upon her return to New York she was sued by artists who claimed that they had painted her picture on order and had not been paid for their services. Mrs. Van Volkenburgh retained her counsel, Edward Lauterbach, and he always won her suits for her. On the witness stand at the last trial he admitted he was an admirer of Mrs. Van Volkenburgh and had her photograph in his apartment.

therefore, declined all invitations away from the city.

"Will you not convey to all concerned in this very kind invitation, by which I feel highly honored, my appreciation of their kindness and consideration, and express to them my deep regret that I cannot be present."

Will Not Be Candidate.

Princeton, N. J., March 14.—President Woodrow Wilson has declined to become a candidate for election to the board of trustees of Princeton University, for which he was proposed by a number of the alumni. He has notified the alumni that the press of duties would prevent his acceptance if elected at this time.

The offer is similar to that at Harvard and Yale held by Ex-Presidents Roosevelt and Taft, respectively.

President John Grier Hibben took the opportunity in chapel this morning to make a brief mention of the gratification which the university naturally felt over the announcement of the gift of the late Ferris S. Thompson, which will net the university about $2,000,000.

Asked for Church Address.

Washington, March 14.—President Wilson, who is to be married to-morrow by a number of ministers and others interested in a movement to get all men in the District of Columbia to attend church to address a large mass meeting, probably will deliver a series of four or six lectures in April, under the auspices of the local Christian Endeavor Union.

They will call upon Secretary Bryan late to ask him to deliver a series of four or six lectures in April, under the auspices of the local Christian Endeavor Union.

Cabinet Members Need Rest.

Washington, March 14.—Half of the members of President Wilson's Cabinet will spend the week-end or longer at their homes, driven from Washington for rest, after ten arduous days in office, or by the necessity of arranging personal affairs preparatory to an extended stay at the capital.

Office-seekers have worried some of the cabinet officers to a point where relief was demanded. Secretary McAdoo, leaving for New York to-day, declared that city would seem "like green fields compared to Washington."

Secretary Bryan left for his home in Jersey City and Secretary Thompson for Blossburg, Pa.; Secretary Houston is en route to St. Louis.

Secretary Bryan will leave Sunday for his home in Jersey City, and attend a dinner in honor of his fifth birthday anniversary, March 19. He will be absent from Washington about ten days.

Bureau Developing His Plan.

Washington, March 14.—Postmaster-General Burleson to-day began developing his plan to prescribe a civil service examination for fourth-class postmasters. He consulted with Civil Service Commissioner John A. McIlrenny, who told him it would be practical to hold examinations that would be true tests of the applicants' ability.

The fourth-class postmasters, nearly 40,000 of them, now are in the classified service, having been placed there by executive order under the Roosevelt and Taft administrations.

Postmaster-General Burleson said to-day that the spirit of the civil service was to be put in putting all these officers into the classified service, and that he proposed to place them on a strictly civil service basis.

"Many of those who to-day hold positions as fourth-class postmasters," said Mr. Burleson, "secured them as a result of pernicious political activity. The Post-Office Department should be a business institution, run on scientific lines. I intend to use the weight of my influence to make it such."

He added that the plan on which he was working was his own; that he had not discussed it with President Wilson.

Committee Forging Ahead.

Washington, March 14.—The House Ways and Means Committee Democrats are forging ahead with their work of preparing the tariff revision bills upon the expectation that the extra session of Congress will convene about Monday, April 7. The committee do not expect to confer again with the President on the tariff situation unless invited.

Two sessions were held to-day. Chairman Underwood expects to finish the work by the close of this month so that the Democratic caucus may pass upon the revision plan quickly upon the convening of the extra session.

Consular Service Can Wait.

Washington, March 14.—The civil service as applied to the consular service of the government is a subject that will be studied thoroughly by the Secretary of State Bryan in the near future, and it is expected, the matter will be taken up with President Wilson as soon as its effectiveness is determined.

It has been reported to Mr. Bryan that of the candidates for consular positions who have passed the civil service test and those now occupying posts under civil service appointment, 95 per cent are Republicans. That only 5 per cent of the successful applicants were Democrats, administration leaders are inclined to regard as somewhat unusual.

Secretary Bryan said to-day, however, that many things of more pressing importance were engaging his and the President's attention just at this time. "The consular service," said Mr. Bryan, "can wait until other things of more urgent importance have been determined. It will be considered thoroughly when we come to it."

Daniels Disapproves Plan.

Washington, March 14.—Secretary Daniels, of the Navy, in disapproving to-day recommendations of the turret board, which called for many expensive changes in older vessels, went on record as opposed to the reconstruction of old naval craft. He estimates an annual saving to the department of more than $300,000 by turning down the recommendations, and declared his experience here and in other countries shows that the reconstruction of old vessels does not pay.

The proposed work included the substitution of steel for woodwork in the magazines of a number of battleships and cruisers.

Million to Be Surrendered.

Washington, March 14.—One-half million dollars will be surrendered by the Federal Treasury to corporations which during the past three years have been penalized for failure to file corporation tax returns within the time limit.

Congress authorized the refunding of such penalties in excess of $100 provided the delay in submitting returns was due solely to neglect. The new law also authorizes such refunding in the future, and it is said, virtually will reduce to $100 the maximum penalty which will be assessed against corporations for failure to make reports by March 1 of each year of earnings on which the tax was assessed.

Fowler's Charge.

STUBBS IS CANDIDATE

Veteran Gloucester Soldier and Legislator Wants to Come Back.

Major J. N. Stubbs, of Gloucester, who has probably had more years of service in the General Assembly than any other living man, has announced his candidacy for the House of Delegates from Gloucester in the ensuing election. He states that he has no platform at this time, and hopes a State convention of Democrats will be held to form a platform. Failing this, he will announce his principles later.

His public service in the Legislature began in 1871, when one-fourth the members of the House of Delegates were negroes. He served through the troublous times of reconstruction, and again in the stormy days of Readjuster agitation. He has been in both the Senate and House, serving in most of the sessions in the last forty years.

Captain W. W. Baker, whose record is nearly as long, is again a candidate from Chesterfield County. He will probably be opposed in the primary by R. H. Bruce, of Chester. Captain Baker has high rank, being now chairman of the Committee on Insurance and Banking and ranking member on Finance.
